

Diversity in the Law Open House

Saturday, March 4, 2023 10am – 1pm

Diversity in the law matters, and the legal profession continues to struggle with this topic. If you advise diverse students, or are a student with an interest in diversity in the law, this free event is for you.

Please join the University of Baltimore School of Law to learn about the efforts we're making to increase diversity within the legal community. Learn more about UB Law and how we support diverse students. Law school administrators, attorneys, judges, and professors will present and share their perspectives on the importance of diversity in the law. Advisors and prospective applicants are welcome at this event.

Prospective Applicants' Agenda:

10am: "Why is diversity important in the legal profession?" -

Faculty and Alumni panel discussion

11am: Perspectives from Current Law Students - Diversity Council

Noon: Lite lunch with student Diversity Council

Advisors' Agenda:

10am: Prelaw advisors are welcome, to attend panel discussion

11am: Why UB Law? – Deans and Administrators

Noon: Lunch with administrators
