

Why Economics? A Virtual Roundtable

November 20th, 2020
12-1 pm

Featuring...

Dr. Gbenga Ajilore
(Center for American Progress)

Dr. Ellora Derenoncourt
(University of California, Berkeley)

Dr. Makada Henry-Nickie
(Brookings Institution)

Dr. Trevon Logan
(The Ohio State University)

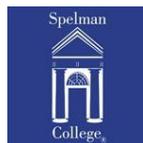

Dr. Andria Smythe
(Howard University)

Moderated by Dr. Sandile Hlatshwayo (International Monetary Fund)

Economics is a broad discipline—covering everything from healthcare to inequality to international trade—with an incredibly powerful set of tools. Still, the discipline's struggles with diversity and inclusion have taken center court in recent years, leading students to ask:
why economics?

Join us to hear from a wide range of economists on why they became economists; how they effect change; and their powerful visions of the future (with you in it)!

Register Here to Get Login Details!

...with the support of the
Alfred P. Sloan
Foundation