

SUMMER

AMST 380 COMMUNITY IN AMERICA

AMST 380/680

GEP - AH

Michelle Stefano & Nicole King

Offered in collaboration with the American Folklife Center at the Library of Congress and working with the Baltimore Office of the International Rescue Committee, AMST 380: Community in America is a hands-on, practice-based course for students passionate about community collaboration and engagement. Take advantage of a unique opportunity this summer to document the Baltimore refugee community while earning valuable credits.

4-Week Course

Summer Session II

Tues/Wed/Fr 1 - 4:10pm

Also offered as AMST 680 - Community and Culture for graduate credit.

Special PROGRAMS

There's more to college than what you can learn in a textbook. This summer, broaden your social, civic, and global views about community, country, and the world.

UMBC Special Programs feature courses in the arts, humanities and social sciences that take you beyond the traditional classroom. Most courses fulfill UMBC's GEP requirements.
