

Media and Communication Studies
and American Studies Welcomes:

Wide Angle Youth Media (WAYM) is a 501(c)3 non—profit organization that provides Baltimore youth with media education to tell their own stories and become engaged with their communities.

WAYM will be visiting UMBC to premiere their recent film “Blessed is the Peacemaker” and students from WAYM will be reflecting on the process of making the film and their interactions with the community in East Baltimore during production.
