

Ben Jealous for Governor Fellowship

Application Opens: Wednesday, August 15, 2018

Application Closes: Monday, August 27, 2018

Overview

The Ben Jealous for Governor campaign is currently seeking applicants for a statewide 9-week fellowship. Fellows will play a key role in the campaign for governor, engaging with constituents in the community and participating in campaign outreach across Maryland. They will assist campaign staff and be on the forefront of an exciting, progressive movement.

Fellows will have the opportunity to interact with a variety of political activists and professionals, gaining knowledge and experience in public policy, political advocacy, and grassroots organizing.

Students, recent graduates, and anyone else looking to get involved in a motivated, detail-oriented, and fast-paced political campaign should apply. Ideal candidates have strong organizational and communication skills, ability to manage multiple tasks and work well under pressure in a team environment, and a love for people and progressive politics.

Although the fellowship is unpaid, fellows will gain invaluable professional experience in an exciting, fast-growing political campaign. Academic credit is available for qualifying students.

Job Responsibilities:

- Support with essential outreach efforts such as phone banking, door-to-door canvassing, and volunteer recruitment calls
- Assist team with campaign and community events
- Assist with data entry
- Assist in research
- Distribute campaign literature
- Attend community events
- Liaise with constituents and campaign staff
- Assist team with administrative tasks
- Additional short or long-term projects as assigned
