

Diversity in Psychology Research Conference

Graduate and undergraduate students are invited to attend the 11th Annual Diversity in Psychology Research Conference on October 3, 2020, sponsored by the Department of Psychology at Marquette University. This virtual conference will be hosted online.

The virtual event will provide attendees with an opportunity to see videos of the work of faculty members and graduate students who are conducting cutting-edge research in diversity-related areas in psychology. It also is intended to help students with the process of applying to graduate school and provide insight into life as a graduate student:

- There will be a session on how to maximize the appeal of your application to graduate school from the Chair of the Psychology Department at Marquette University, who has over two decades of experience in graduate training.
- There will also be a panel of current graduate students who will answer questions about applications, interviews, and balancing the rigors of graduate school.

Registration

Registration information will be online at the Slate website (<https://graduate.admissions.marquette.edu/register/?id=d1d02a4c-4cd5-4d5e-8100-be35daa787d0h>). There is no cost to attend the conference. The deadline for registration is Thursday, October 1, 2020. Participants will receive a link to the conference on Friday, October 2, 2020.
