The President's Commission for Women works to advance the study and consideration of issues that directly or indirectly concern women students, faculty, and staff on the UMBC campus. The Commission will specifically address issues of leadership, salary equity, women and technology, and equal access to university resources and opportunities. The Commission will also showcase the achievements of women on campus, and organizations that empower women.

Board Members are asked to participate in a monthly meeting during the academic year. This forum allows Commission members to share their knowledge, wisdom and unique perspectives while addressing the business items the group needs to accomplish.

In addition to the monthly meetings, Commission members help and give support in the planning, programming, and public relations of the Commission via various sub-committees. These responsibilities would entail additional hours of commitment outside of the monthly board meetings.

Board members are appointed for two-year terms, with possibility of renewal.

The PCW seeks to serve a diverse population of women, as well as men interested in women's issues. As a result, a diverse board is sought to assure that varying needs and interests are represented.
